

Sites for digitized copies of MTA's periodicals

All of MTA's publications from 1848-1976 that have been digitized are in a searchable collection on this website organized by a non-profit called HathiTrust.

You can also find these publications in chronological order on the individual pages based on the university where the original documents were held and digitized. There is a complete run from 1848-1874. From 1875-1914 the MTA didn't have its own publication, but instead contributed to the New England Journal of Education/Journal of Education. There is a nearly complete run from 1914-1976, published under the name the Massachusetts Teachers Federation and then the MTA again starting in 1953. Missing from that period are Vols. 6 and 7 (1926 and 1927); issue #5 from Vol. 36 (1957), #7 from Vol. 37 (1958); and all issues except #3 and #4 from Vol. 40 (1960-1961). The MTA has posted digital copies of MTA Today on its website from 2014 to present.

- 1848-1874: The Massachusetts Teacher:
<https://catalog.hathitrust.org/Record/000532461>
Digitized by Google from collections at the University of Michigan and University of California.
- 1875-2015: The New England Journal of Education/Journal of Education:
https://archive.org/details/pub_journal-of-education?tab=collection
This is a merger of multiple publications, including The Massachusetts Teacher. MTA contributed articles in the early years.
- 1914-1920: Common Ground:
<https://catalog.hathitrust.org/Record/100415694>
Published by the Massachusetts Teachers Federation, which merged with the MTA in 1919. Digitized by Google from a collection at Harvard University. The MTF was founded in 1911; the MTF/MTA published Common Ground from 1914-1931.
- 1920-1976: Common Ground and The Massachusetts Teacher
<https://catalog.hathitrust.org/Record/100234433?type%5B%5D=author&lookfor%5B%5D=%22Massachusetts%20Teachers%20Federation.%22&ft=>
Common Ground (later The Massachusetts Teacher) published by MTF until 1953, when the organization's name was once again the Massachusetts Teachers Association. Digitized by Google from a collection at the University of Illinois Champaign Urbana.
- 1933-1961: The Massachusetts Teacher:
<https://catalog.hathitrust.org/Record/102842526>
Digitized by Google from a collection at Ohio State University.
- 2014-present: MTA Today:
<https://www.mtatoday.org/mtatoday/library/>
Digital copies of MTA Today are available on the MTA's website.

Digitized copies of early MTA reports

- 1852: Transactions of the Massachusetts Teachers' Association from 1845-1847.
<https://babel.hathitrust.org/cgi/pt?id=loc.ark:/13960/t2988z97x&seq=2>
Digitized by the Internet Archive from the collection at The Library of Congress.
- 1881: Abstract of the proceedings of the Massachusetts Teachers' Association, 1845-80:
<https://catalog.hathitrust.org/Record/007666751>
Digitized by Internet Archive from the collection at the University of California.
- 1883: Addresses delivered before the Massachusetts teachers' association 1882; together with an abstract of proceedings at the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth annual meetings, 1881 and 1882: <https://catalog.hathitrust.org/Record/100870587>.
Digitized by Google from the collection at the University of Chicago.
- 1886: Progress on Primary School Instruction in Massachusetts:
<https://babel.hathitrust.org/cgi/pt?id=hvd.32044028877579&seq=3>
Published by a committee of the MTA and presented at MTA's Annual Meeting in 1885.
Digitized by Google from the collection at Harvard University's Graduate School of Education.
- 1890: A teaching profession: an address delivered before the Massachusetts State Teachers' Association, at Worcester, Massachusetts, Friday, November 28, 1890 / by Andrew S. Draper: <https://babel.hathitrust.org/cgi/pt?id=wu.89092041474&seq=3>
Digitized by Google from the collection at the University of Wisconsin